Notes for WILHELM BOTTKE:

Came to America on the Ship Darmstadt, April 1893 according to Granddaughter Leona (Bottke) Christman. (Have been unable to locate passenger lists). Family sources suggest he arrived in Boston, but ship route studies suggest he may have arrived in the port of New York. The Ship Darmstadt has no history of arriving in the port of Boston, however in searching microfilm archives of ships passenger lists at a the Federal Building of Ft. Worth, Texas, A ship named Darmstadt appears. It's routing found thus far has been to the port of New York. They may have boarded the train to go to Minnesota as this was the typical means of travel. Have examined several passenger lists, but have been unable to find the name Wilhelm Bottke thus far. I continue to believe that it will be possible to locate it in time. Wilhelm, according to Laverne Goedel, was granted citizenship on May 5th, 1904.
